Did you know that bowel cancer is Australia's second biggest cancer killer?*

This statistic is particularly sad when you consider that potentially 90 per cent of cases can be treated successfully, usually through surgery, if found early. Unfortunately, early detection doesn't happen in most cases.

This is because some people have no obvious symptoms, ignore their symptoms for too long, or want to avoid an invasive colonoscopy—the most accurate screening technique to date.

But what if a simple blood test could diagnose early colorectal cancers? And help determine the best treatment path for men and women with this disease?
